

SVPISTM - Alumni Association

The SVPISTM Alumni Association – One of the primary aims of an alumni association is to foster networking among former students. This networking can provide valuable professional connections, mentorship opportunities, and a sense of community. Alumni associations often aim to support educational initiatives within the college. Engaged and successful alumni can contribute to enhancing the reputation of the college. Their achievements in various fields reflect positively on the institution, attracting prospective students, faculty, and potential donors. Alumni associations may aim to assist recent graduates in their career development. This can involve organizing job fairs, career counseling sessions, and workshops to help students transition from academia to the professional world. Alumni associations work to celebrate the achievements of former students. Recognizing accomplishments, whether in academia, business, arts, or community service, helps create a sense of pride and motivation among current students and faculty. Aiming to foster a culture of lifelong learning, alumni associations may organize events, workshops, or lectures that continue to educate and engage former students even after they have left the college.
